A Southern Hern siscence In "A Southern Olei in 'dl" Mrs. D. Girand Wright describes the burial of the young hero, Latane, one of the most dramatle and touching incidents in the story of the Confederacy. He died leading a gallant charge, "John Latone, a Beutenant in his brother's company, took charge of the body and, with a cart and driver, tried to return to Richmond. Finding this impossible, as the enemy were in pos-session of the country all around, he went to Westwood, the home of Dr. Brokenbrough, who was then a surgeon in the army. The enemy approached, and he, to avoid capture, was obliged to leave his brother's remains and escape on foot. Mrs. Brokenbrough sent for an Episcopal clergyman to perform the funeral ceremo-nies, but the enemy would not permit him to pass. Then, with a few other ladies, a fair haired little girl, her apron filled with white flowers, and a few faithful slaves who stood reverently near, a plous Virginia matror read the solemn and beautiful burial service over the cold, still form o one of the noblest gentlemen and m intrepid officers in the Confederate ar She watched the clods heaper upon the coffin lid, then sinking on he knees, in sight and hearing of the foe. she committed his soul's welfare an the stricken hearts he had left behind him to the mercy of the All Father."

Nearly all surnames originally had a meaning. They were descriptive of their owners. In a word, they were nicknames, like "Skinny" or "Shorty" or "Pud." Peel is a surname that shows the original Peel to have been bald. Grace means fat, from the French "gras." Grant, from "grand," means big. An Ollphant should be a clumsy and unwieldly person. This surname was

'elephant" originally. The Parkers were keepers of noble men's parks. The Warners were warreners, or rabbit tenders. The Barkers prepared bark for tanning. The Laboucheres were butchers.

Bell meant handsome. Cameron meant crook nosed. Curtis meant polite. And Forster meant a fores Napler a servant in charge of the table linen, Palmer a pilgrim, Walnwright a wagon builder, Walter a wall builder, Webster a weaver, Wright a carpenter. -Philadelphia Bulletin.

Substitutes For Tobacco

Sailors on long cruises sometimes exhaust their tobacco. Thence untold misery and many ingenious efforts to create a tobacco substitute. Tea and coffee make the best tobacco substitutes. They smoke freely in pipe or are not unpleasant. But they burn the mouth and rack the nerves. Rope yarn—the untwisted parts of rope and um-is smoked by sailors as a last re sort. Bark, peeled from the boops of salt beef and pork barrels, is also smoked when the limit is reached. These things smoke abominably, and the black fumes that they give forth from the sailors' mouths are always accompanied by oaths and impreca Yet many a desperate sailor has smoked them in the hope of ap-peasing his tobacco hunger.

The New Cough Syrup—the one that acts as a mild eathartic on the bowels—is Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. It expels all cold from the system, cuts the phles most of the throat, strengthens the mucous membranes of the bronchial tubes, and relieves croup, whooping cough, etc. Children levelt. Sold by W. F. Startling But True

People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago theater in which nearly six hundred people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number or over 3,000 people died from pneumonia in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely a passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A great many who had every reason to fear pneumonia have warded it off by the prompt use of this remedy. The following is an instance of this sort "Too much cannot be said in tayor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter, Laura, of a severe cold, and I believe saved her life when she was threatened with pneu-monis," W. D. WILCOX, Logan, New York, Sold by Gibson & Timberman and W. F.
